

POLICEMAN FIRES TWICE, HITS TWO FLEEING ROBBERS

Wings One Escaping by Way of Roof, Gets His Partner in Street.

Firing just two shots Policeman John Herskowitz, who has been on the force less than fourteen months, early today brought down two holdup men who had tried to rob a saloon at Tenth avenue and Forty-fifth street. Both men were running when shot, and in each case the bullet went entirely through the body of its victim.

One robber was shot on the roof of a four-story tenement, to which he had been followed by Herskowitz. The "dead shot" policeman then ran back to the street, pursued the other holdup man and shot him before he had gone a block.

The saloon, where the attempted holdup occurred is owned by Thomas Connolly. John Kiernan, a bartender, arrived there at half-past 5 this morning to open the place for business. A few minutes later two men entered and ordered drinks, for which they refused to pay. Kiernan stepped behind the bar to get a club and as he did so the men began throwing bottles at him, breaking the bar mirror.

Kiernan, club in hand, ran around to clinch with the men, who were demanding the contents of the cash register. One of the robbers drew a revolver, but Kiernan closed with him. The bartender was beaten over the head with the pistol. The three struggling men away to the side door and out into Forty-fifth street, Kiernan shouting for help.

The robbers shook Kiernan off and ran into the tenement-house, the entrance of which is in the rear of the saloon on Forty-fifth street. Herskowitz and two other policemen followed.

Only one robber was to be seen. He had reached the roof of No. 630 Tenth avenue, which abuts that on which the policemen were standing. Herskowitz called to the man to halt.

The robber kept on running. One shot brought him down.

The other policeman sighted the second robber in a lumber yard back of the tenement. Herskowitz ran downstairs and entered the yard. The man darted by him into the street. As the robber was crossing Tenth avenue he was toppled over with a bullet.

The robbers and the bartender were all taken to Polyclinic Hospital. The bartender's cuts required twenty-six stitches, but after he had received medical attention and identified his assailants he went home. Charges of attempted robbery and felonious assault were made against the holdup men, both of whom may die.

The robbers described themselves as James Kerns of No. 561 Tenth avenue and Patrick Moran of No. 169 Amsterdam avenue.

The New Factory of the Walters Piano Co.

Bloomington Bros. Are Holding a Great

FACTORY REMOVAL SALE OF WALTERS PIANOS & PLAYER PIANOS

This Factory Removal Sale is the most important piano buying event ever presented to the New York public. It is IMPOSSIBLE to give you ANY CONCEPTION as to the SENSATIONAL VALUES offered—you must come and judge for yourself.

Facts That Compel Us to Hold This Sale

On the morning of January 31st a disastrous fire totally destroyed the old factory of the Walters Piano Company at 226 East 63d Street. The loss was over $150,000.

Within a few days after the fire the Walters Piano Co. had the good fortune to secure at 2 West 140th Street a temporary piano factory fully equipped and ready for operation.

For some time past the former factory of the Walters Piano Co. had been rushed to its capacity, and it had been found necessary to arrange for additional space at 503 East 72d Street.

In order to secure the highest efficiency at the lowest cost, and to meet the tremendously increasing sales of Walters Pianos and Player Pianos, we have combined our entire manufacturing interests into one immense new factory building at Wilber Avenue and Sunswick Street, Long Island City.

This new building, especially designed and built for the Walters Piano Co., is one of the largest, most modern and best equipped piano factories in the country.

We Are Moving to Our New Factory

Our leases at 2 West 140th St. and 503 East 72d St. having expired, Bloomington Bros., the sole owners of the Walters Piano Co., are moving the entire stock of Pianos and Player Pianos to their warehouses for immediate disposal at prices that compel the attention of every prospective purchaser.
